

You want to become a Marketing Manager at ambiotex?

We are looking for curious and creative Marketing Manager (m/f/d) for our office in Berlin-Schönefeld, who will lead, develop, and execute our marketing and demand generation strategies and campaigns in order to drive marketing qualified leads through online and offline campaigns.

How your work will look like:

- ✓ Develop the ambiotex marketing strategy
- ✓ Drive creative, smart follow up activities including email, social selling, account-based marketing.
- ✓ Research and find creative demand generation channels and communities
- ✓ Coordinate webinar content development and execution in partnership with external partners and in-house expert speakers.

What we expect from you:

- ✓ An applicant who is enthusiastic about technology and who has already 3-5 years marketing experience with a focus on demand generation
- ✓ You like to take on responsibility, organize projects and communicate in German and English.
- ✓ You identify with our products and want to make the lives of our customers better, healthier and safer.

You have already gained experience in evolving marketing programs based on performance data and marketing automation and CRM systems (Salesforce). You are keen to improve your skills and like to work in an exciting company.

Do you recognize yourself? Then apply now at ambiotex. We digitize security. If you like to share this passion with us, we look forward to hearing from you and to meeting you personally.
